fire from all sides. It was reported that the walls of the building had collapsed.

As the roar of battle grew many residents mounted the roofs of buildings to get a view of the combatants. These bold spirits ran a risk, however, as spent bullets were flying in every direction. The streets were littered with debris.

Free State troops established a "danger zone" for the protection of residents of areas adjacent to the battle, and all non-combatants were warned to withdraw.

Rain fell throughout the battle and the smoke from burning bombs and artillery shrouded the scene and thick over the battle zone.

PRISONERS WERE TAKEN.

Free State troops were pointed in the streets to shoot civilians for arms and this meant an ambush for Republican revolutionaries.

A number of men were captured.

DUBLIN BULLETINS

Dublin, June 28.—Fowler Hall, which was being used by the irregular faction of the Irish Republican Army, was captured by the Irish Free State troops today after a violent battle.

London, June 28.—The dead in today's battle at Dublin are estimated at fifteen, said a Central News dispatch from Dublin. Free broke out in the Four Courts Building, but was extinguished.

London, June 28.—Irish irregulars have withdrawn from the Four Courts Building in Dublin to the rear of that structure, Colonial Secretary Winston Churchill announced in the House of Commons.

London, June 28.—A dispatch from Mullingar said Free State reinforcements were being moved into Dublin. It was reported some of the troops had been arrested for mutiny.

Belfast, June 28 (By the Associated Press).—Dublin today was isolated from Belfast, so far as telephone communication was concerned, Dundalk being the nearest place possible to reach by phone. It is understood that the provisional government in Dublin has occupied the telephone exchange.

London, June 28.—French mortars were used against the Four Courts Building, said a Dublin dispatch to the Star.

Dublin, June 28.—Irish Communists began to mobilize in George street to assist the Republicans in their battle against Free State troops. They took up a number of positions in this street.

By the Free Staters when Fowler Hall fell.

Police and nurses acted with great bravery, giving assistance to the wounded. The Rev. Father O'Grady was shot while giving help to a wounded man.

The police knelt in the street giving consolation to the dying while bullets whizzed past them.

Precautions were taken to prevent O'Connor from receiving reinforcements from the provinces. The Irish Provisional government announced to have daily communications to O'Connor.

Later, the Free Staters, to show they were in earnest, drew up field guns in the streets about Powder Mill and the Four Courts Building.

A drizzle of rain started to fall and a wave of fog drifted over the city. Firing broke out near Powder Mill, snatching some of the lights. The wet, murky weather gave a grimy aspect to the situation.

The armored cars used by the Free Staters were armed with heavy Hotchkiss guns.

Doctors said they saw a number of dead men lying in the battle area. Colonial Secretary Winston Churchill, in the House of Commons at London, had warned the Irish Free State on Monday that the head-quarters of the irregular section of the Irish Republican army would have to be cleaned up.

At No. 10 Downing street the official residence of Premier Lloyd George, it was stated that the Premier wants it to be understood that Great Britain was not responsible for the attack against the Four Courts Building.

It is understood that the British Premier wrote to Collins last week asking him to clear up the situation at home and offering aid. Collins replied that he had already planned action against the irregulars of the Irish Republican army and did not need outside help. He said that he had enough Irish troops to establish order and put down rebellion.

In consequence the British troops at Dublin were ordered to remain in their barracks if fighting broke out, unless Collins made special request for their aid.

Building Taken Over by Rebels on April 4.

The four courts in Dublin is an imposing classic group of masonry, surrounded by a circular tower with green dome. A Corinthian Portico covers the central entrance, and above is a group of statues. It was erected in 1794 on the site where once had stood a thirteenth century castle. Within were held the Four Courts of Exchequer, Common Pleas, Chancery and Queen's Bench.

The building was seized by the insurgent section of the Irish Republican Army on April 14, with the announcement that they intended to utilize it as a permanent headquarters. It was barricaded and barred to outsiders. The agreement between the Collins and De Valera factions preceding the recent elections had no effect on the occupation, the insurgents continuing to utilize the structure.

DEALERS AND CAFE MEN FINED IN MILK CASES

George O. McDonough and James A. Robinson, Waitman milk dealers, were fined $10 each in Municipal court today on charges of selling milk below the standard. The following restaurant proprietors were fined $10 each for serving weak milk or cream: Arthur Morgan of No. 174, Washington street; Joseph Hulse of No. 41 Washington street; Louis Hulse of No. 43 Bromfield street; and Joseph Zorog of No. 341 Massachusetts avenue. Louis Manolis of No. 152 Taylor street, a grocerman, was fined $10 for diluting vinegar.

REQUIEM MASS FOR MRS. MARY T. MURPHY

The funeral of Mrs. Mary T. Murphy took place today at the home of her mother, Mrs. Catherine Galvin, at No. 14 Shadown street. A high mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Martin's Church, Dorchester. Mrs. Murphy, who died last Sunday at Monmouth, was the widow of Michael Murphy, once ball commissioner and a member of the staff of the Boston American.

SURRENDERED TO DOHERTY.

June 18 Mrs. Peto went to 142, the Livermore crowd saw the handwriting on the wall. June 19 it hit 171. Livermore and his associates clearly saw the sword of Damocles suspended over their heads. June 21 the stock rose to 173, Doherty and his crowd scented. Livermore and his crowd departed. It was clear to Livermore that he was caught. The only question was how cheaply he could get out of it.

Thursday saw the stock up to 188. Saturday, when the market closed, the stock was written at 184 1/4. Monday it leaped to 204 1/2.

By negotiation with the Debsen faction, Livermore and his associates surrendered, and the indemnity they were paid for the raid on Mrs. Peto was conservatively estimated at $1,500,000.

KILLING NEAR MINE PROBED BY OFFICIALS

St. Clairsville, Ohio, June 28.—John H. Major, a steam shovel operator, shot to death yesterday during an alleged attack by striking miners on an automobile in which he was riding with two companions, was erroneously said to have been an employee of the Catherine Coal Company at Uniontown. Major was employed by the Union and Shipbuilding Company, with operators near Lafferty.

Mr. Major was going to the Union Coal Company strip mine at the time he was shot, according to county officials, who investigated the affair. He was said to have been a representative of a mine union official that he came work as a steam shovel operator, having declared, according to the officials, that he was financially interested in the mine. No arrests have been made.

STERN CHASE OF SAILOR ACCUSED OF HOLEPOU

James T. Holden, a sailor on the U. S. S. Canopus, was arraigned in court after being arrested by Officer Tierman of the East Deham street station in an exciting chase through South End streets. The sailor, or finally drew up when the policeman threatened to shoot. Holden is charged with robbing Morris Epstein of $10 Poplar street, when it is alleged to have held up and relieved of $85 and a watch.

MINE LEADER AGAIN TALKS WITH DAVIS

Washington, June 28.—John L. Davis, president of the United Mine Workers, conferred again today with Labor Department Secretary Davis.

2 GIRL PICKETS ARE ARRESTED IN LAWRENCE

Lawrence, June 28.—Charged with assaulting workers on their way to the Pacific Mills today, two women strike pickets were arrested.

Mary Nauvau of Haverhill street is charged with striking another woman over the head with her umbrella, while Mary Stive of Conover street is said to have grabbed a worker by the arm.

In District Court the women were fined $20 each and entered an appeal. Judge Gorman directed the strikers for the United Textile Workers, today characterized as "an attempt to stampede the strikers' favorable comment made by the State Board of Arbitration on the mill owners' proposals for a settlement.

About 1500 pickets were on duty today. An increased police force was stationed on guard around the mill. Strike leaders denied any increasing number of workers were returning to their jobs.

McMahon Says A. F. of L. Will Assist Strikers.

Pawtucket, R. I., June 28.—Strike one of the Blackstone Valley may be secured of the moral and financial support of the American Federation of Labor, declares Thomas A. McMahon, president of the United Textile Workers of America, who has returned from the convention of the former body in Cincinnati.

"I am well satisfied with the treatment accorded me at the convention," said Mr. McMahon at a meeting of operatives today. "Not one delegate could be found who was in sympathy with the striking textile workers of New England."

Salem Cotton Mills to Close for Repairs

Boston, June 28.—Notice was posted this morning at the Naumkeag Steam Cotton Mills in this city that the mills would shut down for two weeks, during which the machinery will be overhauled and repairs made to the plant. The Duversen Machinery, at Peabody, a department of the Naumkeag, will also close for the same period. The Naumkeag Mills have run continuously for thirty-two months. Operations will be resumed July 17. About 1,500 employees are affected.

300 Cotton Workers Quit in Connecticut

Quincy, Ct., June 28.—The 300 hands employed by the Union Cotton Mills Co. at Bloomington refused to report for work today, owing to a strike of weavers against the ten-hour day. Trouble has been brewing here since the company officers refused to allow Rhode Island strikers to collect at the mill. The strike is one of the best cotton mills in Connecticut.

UTS KILLING CHILD A DAY IN BOSTON

Autos continue to reap a death harvest among Boston children. The record now stands four in four days—a child a day. The latest victim is Abraham Cohen, four and one-half years old, of No. 241 Dover street, South End.

Seventeen have been killed this month to date. Where will the grim toll stop? Boston's child death toll by accident continues to grow. In the last four days four children, the oldest eight years of age, have been killed. Two others are expected to die. Seventeen children have been killed this month in Massachusetts.

Despite official warning autists continue to speed on streets where children are at play. The average killings is one a day for the last ten days—and vacation time is just started. The latest victim in Boston is little Abraham Cohen, four and one-half years old, of No. 241 Dover street, South End. He was playing in the street in front of his home, an automobile driven by Wallis Elmer of Washington street, New York, struck him. Another mother's car was broken.

Alarmed at the deaths and injuries among the children, Frank A. Good, registrar of motor vehicles, has put out a warning to autists. The warning is printed in red ink. The gist of the warning is "Don't hit child or pedestrian." The threat of license is added in an effort to curb the number of child deaths. Here are the warnings to auto drivers issued by Frank A. Good:

"The pedestrian and the child have right on the street without a license. You have to have a license, and you hit a child or pedestrian it is up to you as a rule. If a pedestrian or a child is in a street, or on the sidewalk adjacent, you must get your car under positive control and stop if necessary."

MAN WILL RIDE PREPARED FOR ANCIENT BIKE TO NEW YORK

Mounted on an antique high wheel "bike" of other days, John J. James of No. 4322 Washington street, Roslindale, will ride from Boston to New York, beginning tomorrow. He will start from the Boston American office between 7 and 8 a. m., and although fifty-nine years of age, expects to complete the 200-mile ride before showing his eyes.

MAKE TRIP IN 60 HOURS

"By completing this ride from Boston to New York without sleeping I'm going to prove that Dr. Oster was all wrong," said Mr. James. "I expect to ride along Broadway within sixty hours after leaving Boston. The only excuse baggage I will take will be a sweater. I expect to average fifteen miles an hour while riding and hope to reach New York without sleeping."

ROAD BIKE 30 YEARS

"This ride will be taken purely for the fun of it. I have already turned down offers to ride with an advertising placard on my back, and I planned the ride last year, and have been riding nearly every day for months in preparation for it. My physical condition is fine."

Mr. James will ride the same old "highboy" he rode when he was a prize in the Boston American bicycle race last year. He purchased this "bike" more than thirty years ago and says it has cost him only one or two years for upkeep.

PREPARED FOR ALLEGHENY OUTBREAK

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 28.—Sheriff Robert G. Woodside was prepared today to take quick and drastic action if 200 or more striking union miners attempt to carry out their announced intention to march today on thirty acres in the upper end of Allegheny County and "clean out" the non-union workers.

Tuesday a band of marchers visited each home of non-union workers and told the women folk that physical force would be used if necessary, the sheriff's office was informed.

"The thirty outdoor mines will not be closed," was the ultimatum given the operators.

At Brownsville, Pa., the situation was a little easier today with the ordering of large squads of State police into that town.

"I'm not going to take any chance with a Hessian disaster," said Sheriff Shaw, commenting on the fact that Brownsville and South Brownsville had virtually been placed under martial law.

Social Leader Who Is Suffering From Collapse

HELEN FRICK

Noted war worker and daughter of the late "Coke King" who is ill at her father's home in New York City.

At Brownsville, Pa., the situation was a little easier today with the ordering of large squads of State police into that town.

HELEN FRICK, OFFICER WINS ILL, REPORTED 2-MILE CHASE, SOON TO WED JAILS 2

Miss Helen Frick, richest American "bachelor girl," is reported seriously ill with nervous prostration at her father's home in New York City.

After many months of hard work entangling works of American artists, Miss Frick has paid the penalty of her love of art in a weakened constitution. Although her New York home still harbors an army of artists engaged in restoring the Frick mansion residence in absolute quiet so that her shattered nerves may be rested.

There are rumors that the daughter of the famous Henry Clay Frick does not love art alone. While in retirement it is hinted that she is having a trousseau prepared and is about to announce her engagement to a poor but exceedingly brilliant American medical man.

It is known that the two were constantly together while the Fricks resided in Paris last Summer. Miss Frick once conducted "Canary Cottage," a son to the profits of which she devotes to starving people of Europe.

Those who know the serious-minded young heiress, who has never entered the life social group, declare that, following her enforced cost a "Love Note" may take the place of "Canary Cottage."

Twenty minutes later after ten various scenes, back yards, railroad tracks and fields, Mr. Stinson, with a citizen he had called on for help, uncovered the youths in the house of a rustic automobile in a barn two miles from the Stinson home.

They were arrested. Investigation revealed that the cellar of Daniel Sweeney at No. 117 Park Street had also been entered. This house gave the names of Arthur Joseph Haggard, twenty years old, of No. 228 Brown street, South Boston, and Albert J. Keller, seventeen, of No. 167 Seventh street, South Boston.

They were charged with breaking and entering.

Numerous Young Matrons Returning for Parental Visit, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN.

DURING these Summer months many a young matron orders her grips packed and bids adieu to her youngsters for a visit at the parental home. And truly it is a red-letter day for the staid damers and their husbands, who become for the nonce just plain "Granny" or "Granddaddy"—for even society folk are human.

Down at Beverly Farms Mrs. Valentine Worthington (Nan Means) is receiving the heartiest of welcomes. She is visiting her mother, Mrs. Arthur Little, at the latter's Italian villa at the Farms known as "Spartivento." Ever since her marriage several years ago, the once-time Nan Means has been making her home in England, and now that she has craved to spend the Summer with her three little children, she is being no end entertained along the shore. With her lovely brown hair tinged with auburn, she is very like her mother, who enjoys much of the beauty of her Jessie Whitman days. Mrs. Worthington, by the way, received the major portion of her education abroad, and has the distinction of having been presented at several European courts.

A very youthful bride coming home for a brief sojourn on the parental roof is Mrs. Prida Koenig (Mary Holger), who, with her husband, is spending part of the Summer at the Charles E. Hodges' estate at Beverly Farms, where the marriage of the young couple took place last September. The former Mary Hodges is as petite as her blonde bobbed hair is fluffy. She is always dressed in the latest mode, having a decided penchant for sport clothes and long earrings. Later in the season the young couple will go to Woods Hole to be with Mrs. Koenig's mother, Mrs. Joseph S. Pay.

Then there are the Richard C. Paine (Ellen Elliot), who are coming to the Shore later in the season when they return from their honeymoon abroad. Those who attended the ceremony at a short time ago at King's Chapel really saw a very vivid and stinging bride was the former Ellen Elliot, who is tall, with light fluffy hair and very vivid coloring. They will be at the Palace on Conklin Point, Massachusetts, where they spent a short time before sailing for foreign shores.

EVEN the loveliest of brides do not always smile at the all-important ceremony which breaks a "Mr." to their name, but a happier-looking bride than Katherine Winslow—now Mrs. Louis R. McGee, Jr.—might have been hard indeed to find. And she was a lovely bride, too, with her shimmering gown of satin, boasting a square court train of rare rose point lace. The bridal veil, which was caught with a slender wreath of orange blossoms, was also of rose point lace. But her costume was not nearly as charming to look upon as the radiant smile which she wore coming up the aisle of St. Paul's Cathedral upon the arm of the young Harvard '22 man after Dean Roussimare had pronounced them man and wife. The bride, who looked very slender and dainty beside her tall husband, has light hair, gleaming with tints of auburn, which go very well with her laughing blue eyes.

Of light-blue crepe de chine were the simple gowns of the maid of honor and eight bridesmaids, all of whom wore champagne-colored hats of horsehair, trimmed with blue and yellow flowers. Their bouquets of yellow roses and marguerites and their dainty blue satin slippers and stockings completed the picture of blue and yellow.

PROMINENT among the fashionable throng of guests at the wedding of the daughter of the George Scott Winslows of Chestnut street and the young New Yorker was Mrs. "Gillie" Ames, Jr., with all the charm of her Caroline Fessenden days. Here is a rare girlish beauty, and it is hard to believe that she has suffered the tragedy of young widowhood. A tall, slender young woman, with soft, wavy brown hair and deep brown eyes, she is always noticed for her charm. At the ceremony yesterday she wore a soft black gown with delicate white lace, her black and white hat completing the costume.

MARJORIE KENNARD, BRIDE OF FRANCIS W. HATCH

Canaanville, N. Y., June 25.—In the same church where her parents were married, Miss Marjorie K. Kennard, daughter of Arthur W. Kennard of Boston, became the wife of Francis W. Hatch of West Bedford, Mass. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles H. Went of Buffalo, assisted by Rev. T. C. Jackson, rector of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, the officiating in which the couple were united.

Mr. and Mrs. Hatch will live in Cambridge, Mass.

MAY NAME BOSTON MAN FOR RUSSIAN BOARD

Washington, June 25.—Meyer Bloomfield of Boston, expert on European economic conditions, is being considered for appointment to take up the Russian situation.

Mr. Bloomfield recently returned from Russia, where he made a study of economic and social conditions. He was elevated with President Harding and Secretary of State Hughes for more than an hour and went over the Russian situation in detail.

Lines Ignore Bail Workers' Ultimatum

By The Associated Press.

Chicago, June 25.—The ultimatum sent by R. M. Jewell, head of the Railway Employees' Department of the American Federation of Labor, to T. DeWitt Cuyler, chairman of the Association of Railway Executives, that the 400,000 shompen of the nation's railroads would go on strike unless the decisions of the Railroad Labor Board were ignored and present wages maintained, today was met with silence by railroad managers.

There was little indication that the railroads would seriously consider Jewell's demands to hold back the $40,000,000 wage cut and restore abolished rules governing working conditions in the shops.

Rail union officials continued their conference today on plans for the threatened walkout next month as they hastened toward completion of the canvass of the strike vote, which is said to have been overwhelmingly in favor of a suspension in protest against the wage cuts and rules laid down under edicts from the labor board.

Maintenance of war employees, clerks, signal men and other classes, whose wages were slashed in recent orders, would in following the shompen out on a strike, take more than 1,000,000 employees out of the railroad service. In spite of this, rail officials have asserted that the roads could continue to operate to a certain extent with train service employees and telegraphers remaining on the job.

Two Policemen Win High Commendation From Wilson

Two patrolmen are highly commended in general orders issued by Police Commissioner Herbert A. Wilson for able performance of their duty.

Officer H. A. Chalmers of Hanover street station is praised and given one day's leave of absence with pay for capturing an armed gunman in a North End shooting affray on June 21.

Officer Albert R. Elwood of the Dorchester division is praised for his work in apprehending an alleged house thief after an exciting chase. The latter does not receive a holiday.

Sues for Loss of Finger

Clinton, June 27.—James B. McMahon of Lancaster has brought suit against his brother-in-law, Michael H. Butler of Bolton, for loss of a finger, amputated, he says, after infection set in following a family row in which Butler resorted to biting.

OFFICERS KILL RUM-RUNNER IN SEA BATTLE

By International News Service.

New York, June 25.—One man was killed and another captured, following an early morning pistol battle today between alleged rum runners and United States customs officers in Gravesend Bay. Twenty-five cases of whiskey valued at $2,000 were seized.

The rum runners were in a motor boat and were chased for miles by a government launch before George Hollander, one of the two men in the booze craft, was shot. He died in Coney Island without regaining consciousness.

BOUCHIE HELD ON WIFE'S CHARGES

William P. Bouchie, alleged desertor of his Roxbury wife and three children, was held in $3,000 bonds by Judge Johnson in Middlesex Superior Court on charges of conspiracy to steal and receiving goods valued at $100.

Bouchie was arrested in the corridor of Roxbury Court. He was talking to Miss Katherine Laughlin, whom his wife describes as the "other woman" in her shattered marital happiness, when he was seized.

He and Miss Laughlin were in court charged with the larceny of index cards from Katherine M. Brightwell, wife of the noted Pontiac rival. Due to illness of an attorney this case and one involving a statutory charge were postponed.

Just as the officers stepped toward Bouchie, his youngest child cried "Mama, there's papa." For an instant the mother looked and then turned toward him with her three children. Miss Laughlin saved at the three Bouchie children and then turned toward their father. And Roxbury court officials cut another triangle in the notched border of marital court affairs.

ROXBURY 'PEEPER' IS GIVEN MONTH SUSPENDED SENTENCE

PEEPING TOM CAPTURED BY GIRL'S BROTHER AFTER CHASE! PHOTO diagram showing how William A. Hartwell of Lynn was caught by a brother of Miss Margaret McShane of No. 28 Adams street, Roxbury, after, it is alleged, he was caught peering into her bedroom window. Hartwell was arraigned before Judge Hayden in the Roxbury District Court, was found guilty and given a suspended sentence of one month in jail. He told the court he had accidentally wandered into the McShane yard.

IT DOESN'T TAKE MUCH SAND TO POP THE QUESTION TO A PIPPIN ON THE BEACH BY RADIO! Pretty Marie Eversuch went down to the sea to hear what the wild waves were saying and she got a message from a wild man—he wanted to marry her by radio. However, dear boys, be sure you're tuned up properly before you propose by wireless. Somebody's likely to listen in. Then it'll be a case of "Marry Me!" "Sure—What's your name?" LINDEN STREET "L" TERMINAL IN ALLSTON ATTACKED AS A PROPERTY DESTROYER and a Needless Burden on Taxpayer! The map and photograph indicate the area which the Elevated proposes to use in establishing a terminal to develop a service between Allston and Lechmere square. It is believed that this plan will eliminate congestion at Park street. Residents living near Linden street oppose the project. On the other hand, the plan is approved by city officials and many organizations. Hearings were held at State House.

"LET'S GO, OL' MYLES STANDISH—THERE'S HEAPS O' FUN WAITIN' FOR US at Nantasket!" That seemed to be the unanimous and anxious cry of this young gentry as it waited for the well known bell to start them off for another one of the Boston American's famous outings to tired mothers and their youngsters. If you weren't there you don't know what fun you missed—criminals! From milk to everything. If you want to go, read the news columns—it has the whole dope. Little Lucille La Plante of Scarsville was one of those who had a hot time. There's another one today.

IT'S MORE SCIENTIFIC TO BEHEAD DEADLY GERMS Nowadays! This remarkable microbe mixing machine is the invention of Dr. David Thompson and has attracted worldwide attention. FOUR CORNERED WHITE DEFEATS
PAGED RAGE DUNDEE ON AT REVERE POINTS

By SAM HALL.
Rock Island, Ill., June 25.—Charles White bested Johnny Dundee in their two-round bout in the baseball park. The Chicagoan won on the superior power of his swat, on the damage done and a few scars he tossed into the enemy's camp.
Thus did Charles, in a measure, secure some revenge for that fifteen-round victory that Dundee scored over him in Madison Square Garden.
Dundee was not disgraced. Not a bit of it. He was right there and at the finish was close up and battling desperately to turn the punch tide. But White had something on him for this occasion. It was his seventh fight, and the question of superiority still is in dispute.

DODGERS BANK ON VICTORIES HERE TO BOOST TEAM

BRAVES PROVE REAL DIAMOND PUZZLE

By NICK FLETCHER.
This Wilbert Robinson is dreaming tonight. He has his Brooklyn ball club on the verge of first place that getting there is simply a matter of waiting a week or so. Charles Willoughby does not say in so many words that this present engagement is as welcome as a big check a couple of days before Christmas, but we're inclined to think that he views it in that light.

The Dodgers have been beating the Braves all Spring, and now they're in the midst of a seven-game series. The Flatbushers won the first one without trouble, and are all prepared to knock off the remaining half-dozen.

Robbie, like the lot of us, cannot understand the Braves, but he's not sure he will get to take advantage of their present slump. He has been down to the ballpark to see a lot of solid work, no injuries to regulars, don't look like much of an able to last.

The Brooklyn skipper manifested a real ball club by getting a pair of real pitchers, Dutch Ruether, who returned completely, and Gus Jacobs, the Dodger, and Louis Vance, a youngster who is doing up a splendid record for himself.

Robbie Has the Answer to Everything in Baseball
Pitching is the answer to every thing in baseball, and Robbie has it. His staff figures to hold out as well as any firing corps in the league, and for that reason, Dutch Ruether isn't bothered by the six games lost the champions. Jacobs can keep the Braves all week and then take them over to Brooklyn for a doubleheader Sunday. After losing nine in a row, the Braves are due for a reversal of fortune. They must stay here, in fact, to get anybody out of their ball park.

Gang Hands Out the "Raz" for First Time
This introductory effort was not so hot, and the game was hampered by the "raz" for the first time in the last half season. With a loss that knocked off the Giants, Cardinals and Pirates with apparent ease, the Braves are the only club in the league that has not been beaten by a team that has won a game.

Fans Sympathize With Boeckel for Hard Luck
Fan sympathy has gone out to Tony Boeckel, who was blamed for a continuous error record and a rebuff in Philadelphia. Boeckel had not missed a game from the day he joined the Braves in August, 1915. He was just getting to the 400 mark, and going strong.

VADALFI HAS A BOUT WITH KAMALHA

RAIDERS, June 23.—The first wrestling exhibition that has been witnessed in a long time will be staged at the North street rink Thursday evening, by Oreste Vadalfi and Kama Kama, the Turkish champion of Baltimore.

There will also be two ten-round bouts and a couple of sixes.

Young Gould of Brockton will quarrel with Mickey Devine of Providence in one ten. Another ten-session affair will find Tommy Maguire of Providence snapping blows with Jack Bole of Fall River.

Frank Finn of Providence and Irish Paty Club of Providence will see an action, as will Paul and Bobby Ritchie, both of Providence.

The show of action.
And the Champion will show how he does his stuff.

Jack Malone's kick is up.
He pitched his camp right here in Boston and has started the great fight of his career in its infancy.

He convinced the Massachusetts Boxing Commission that the only reason he was unable to fight Mickey Walker was because HE HAD AN ANKLE LUMP.

Malone, impulsive and temperamental, had staged several verbal battles with the Boxing Commission and lost. He declared his hand was unfit for fighting purposes, but he was unable to convince the Boxing Commission of this fact. Jack spoke forcefully enough, but he lacked evidence.

Acting upon the advice of this writer, Malone had his hand examined on Monday, the date of the Walker match, by three prominent Boston physicians. They were Dr. William J. Brinkley, of the Haymarket Relief Hospital and one of the best medical experts in the East; Dr. Frederick J. Cotton, and Dr. Frank B. Granger, two other leading medical men.

After examining Malone's left hand, these men declared him unable to box.

Malone has been indefinitely suspended by the Boxing Commission and will have the favorable testimony of these three medical experts when he petitions to be reinstated.

The affidavit of the three doctors reads:
"This certifies that I have today examined Mr. James M. Malone and I find him to be suffering from a sprain of the fourth metacarpal-phalangeal joint with tenderness at that point. The knuckle of the ring finger, I have advised him to avoid since entering Lehigh."

Ed Walsh, son of the former White Sox pitcher, is following in the footsteps of his famous father. The boy has been twirling for various New England colleges and club teams and has made good.

Young Walsh a Chip of the Old Block

By JACK CONWAY
The Champion shows a Providence tonight! "Tiger Jack" Dempsey is booked to battle in a four-round exhibition with Larry Williams of Bridgeport in a show to be staged by the Veterans of Foreign Wars at the ball park in Providence.

Everybody will give Dempsey the glad hand. A band will be on the job when the king of the heavy weights arrives in Providence. It will have a parade in honor of the young man who made a punching bag of George Carpentier and who stands ready to do the same to Harry Wells.

A tremendous crowd will be on hand to see Dempsey box. They want to see how "Tiger Jack" shoots forth his winning blows.

WATERVILLE HAS BOXING SHOW ON JULY FOURTH
Matchmaker Frank Howard of the Waterville A. C. has arranged a classy row for the entertainment of the fight fans of Central Maine on the afternoon of July 4. Two double-bouts feature the program.
Walter Butler of Bangor, one of the most satisfactory welterweights in New England, will meet Young Jason of Waterville in the main attraction and Young Leonard of Chelsea is booked to swap punches with Eddie Pope of Waterville in a double bout. The local boys are well thought of in Waterville and the show promises to draw a big crowd to the Central Maine Fair Grounds.
Young Kenneth of New Bedford and the Panama Kid will open the evening with a six-round bout.
GIRL TWIRLER ENTERS NEW YORK GAMES
New York, June 23.—Miss Katherine Davis, America's greatest woman basketball player, will be a competitor in the first women's Olympic trials on Brighton Beach Sunday afternoon. Miss Davis is coming from Swanton, Vt., to participate in the basketball tournament and basketball throw.

Comfortable, conservative, correct!
THIS new shirt has an exclusive and exceedingly convenient feature—the cuff can be reversed easily, quickly, without a ridge or a wrinkle. Both sides of the fine soft fabric are alike and both sides are the right side. Because the fabric of the cuff is durable it doubles the life of the shirt; and because it can be reversed it saves laundry bills and refunds its purchase price long before it wears out. Made like the VAN HEUSEN Collar, of a single-piece fabric that will not wrinkle, well-dressed men say that it is comfortable, conservative and correct.

Patience and co-operation will solve Massachusetts' problems.—Frank G. Allen, president of the Massachusetts Senate.

Robs Bay State of Millions

Pending Republican Tariff Bill Adds $52,000,000 to Cost of Goods Here Alone, Says Senator Walsh

Senator Walsh of Massachusetts in a speech in the Senate tells us that the pending Republican tariff will add one thousand five hundred million dollars to the cost of goods for which the American people will have to pay. He says that the people of Massachusetts alone will be mulcted of more than $52,000,000 on agricultural products alone as a result of the proposed new tariff.

Says Senator Walsh:

From my own State of Massachusetts the increased cost of living through the increased price of agricultural products alone will exceed $52,000,000. Add to these figures the stupendous figure of the increased cost because of the high tariff duties in this bill in the price of shoes, cotton and woolen goods, furniture, building materials, etc., and you will understand why this bill is called iniquitous by those who believe consumers have some rights.

Consumers certainly have no rights under the pending Republican tariff bill, and, moreover, even the little protected interests are without rights against the bigger and more ruthless interests. The proposed tariff not only robs in excessive rates the consumer, but in its taxes on raw materials it robs a great many manufacturers and protected interests, who, having been given the privilege of raising their rates on their own products, are obliged to raise them again in order to get back the tax which they have to pay on raw materials.

Rathenau—German, Human

His Assassination Brings Gloom to Sympathizers With the Cause of Liberalism

The assassination of Walter Rathenau at Berlin by the hands of monarchist sympathizers brings gloom to all well-wishers of the German people and all sympathizers with the cause of liberalism.

For Rathenau was one of that splendid type of humanity which finds local habitation in a given nation, but is, above all things, human.

During the war Rathenau rendered patriotic service to Germany by organizing the supply of material. But he had the honesty and courage to criticize the national policies. He was opposed to submarine warfare, and he frankly disapproved Ludendorff's insane aggressiveness.

Rathenau wrote frankly to Colonel House in 1919 that in his opinion Germany had been wrong both in the war and thereafter.

Though inclined toward a Socialistic philosophy, Dr. Rathenau criticized severely the materialism of Socialism, as follows:

The movement is stamped with the curse handed down to it by its father, who was not a prophet, but a man of learning, one who placed his trust, not in the human heart, where all genuine world happenings well up, but in science. This greedy and unhappy man erred so gravely that he ascribed to science the power of determining values and establishing goals. He despised the forces of transcendental philosophy, of inspiration and of eternal justice. For this reason Socialism has never acquired any constructive force.

It is not overpraising Dr. Rathenau to characterize him as a fine example of the new statesman, an intelligent and efficient national, but one who could see and act as a citizen of the world.

Our Russian Policy

Harvard Man at Commencement Has the Independence and Courage to Publicly Criticize Government

We are very much interested in the commencement address of the undergraduate Clyde W. Phelps of Harvard. He took as his topic, "America's Russian Policy." He properly exhorted our government for its refusal to recognize the Russian Soviet government, a government based upon the consent of the governed, when we had for a hundred years recognized the Czar's bloody regime, based upon bayonets and upon the misery of the governed.

Mr. Phelps said: The events of the past five years have convinced the premiers of Europe that the Soviet government is the sovereign power of a free and independent State. During this period the Russian government has put down every rebellion against it and has successfully withstood the armed intervention, the economic blockade and the hostile non-recognition policy of the allies.

Young Mr. Phelps said nothing new. But the interest in what he said is very great, because he is one of the highest intellectuals coming out of Harvard this year, and yet he is independent-minded enough to have such views and courages enough publicly to assert them.

It is also interesting to know that the audience of graduates who listened to him listened respectfully, and it seemed approvingly; at least they gave him a full measure of applause.

Watch the career of this clear-headed and brave young man. We believe that if he is spared his health he will be a credit and an asset to his country.

Partnership With England

Copyright, 1922, Star Company.

Mr. Taft, head of the United States Supreme Court, is much liked in England and as he is here. He says truly that friendship between America and Great Britain is "most necessary for the peace of the world," and he says that we in America "are acquiring consciousness of partnership." The question interesting to a young and growing country of one hundred and ten millions is what KIND of partnership?

Is it an equal partnership—50-50? Or is there a senior partner, and if so, who is he?

What's Wrong With This Picture? By T. E. Powers

The Voice of New England

Editor Boston American:

In the Friday last edition of your paper I read an article by "Subscriber" suggesting a hotel for women. Has "Subscriber" not heard of the Durant? And does he not know that they have received their charter and are arranging to erect a real HOME for women, that shall also be a clubhouse? Members will have wonderful privileges and women will be able to live there at a far less cost than could be possible at any good hotel.

Whipple's Candidacy

Editor Boston American: Under it the golden opportunity is open to every variety of candidate. For illustration, without desiring to make an inviolable distinction, as it might be possible to select some other candidate for the purpose. Mr. Whipple is a candidate for the United States senatorship. What eminent and distinctive public services has he rendered to the people of Massachusetts which entitle him to hope for that great reward? Mr. Whipple at first among other things that one of the most important issues in the campaign is the question of labor. When before this campaign did Mr. Whipple claim to be a warm friend of labor? Was it in the past, when he invariably appeared in strike cases on the side of the employer, strenuously seeking for, and generally successful in securing, a "blanket injunction," to be spread carelessly over the cold and trembling limbs of outcast labor, over which he now offers to throw his sheltering wings?

The textile strike in Massachusetts Mr. Whipple disposes of in as offhand manner. This is a controversy that cannot be lightly disposed of, and which possible argument which could be made by Mr. Whipple would be for him to make it a part of his campaign to bring about an equitable and fair settlement of the textile strike. If he could succeed in this, he would be one of the most powerful and effective reasons for his selection. WILLIAM N. OSBORN.

Our Colleges and Our Jews

By Dr. Charles Fleischer

Just as surely as love and its credit and gain are in the soul of the lover, so hatred and its blame and loss are in the heart of the hater.

When President Lowell of Harvard speaks sadly of "a rapidly growing anti-Semitic feeling in this country," he makes himself too easily the fence spokesman of that anti-Semitism.

To America and democracy, standing for essential equality and human decency, not the Semite but the anti-Semite constitutes a national problem and a national menace.

At the worst the Jew is only a Jew. Like beauty and truth he is his own best excuse for his existence. His past performance and his present average need no apology.

The Jew is self-sufficient in his purposes and his practices. In America and elsewhere the best of Jews, of course, are easily a pair with the excellence of their country. They rest readily hold their own with the average for orderly living and constructive participation in the life of every land.

But in America, however, decriable a citizen the actively anti-Jewish non-Jew may otherwise be. He is certainly guilty of spiritual treason to our fine professions of democracy.

Rightly he feels the need of reference to an article signed by a certain Watson of Boston that the Harvard question with the Jews is not a matter of faith. I wish to state that if it is not a matter of faith as such, it is a matter of faith as well as many of my faith are anxiously waiting for some one to tell the Jews that they are not a matter of faith as such. The admission of Harvard, certainly, is not a matter of faith as such. The Jew has not brought discredit and shame on Harvard. The Jew not only makes no effort to lift himself out of the rut in which you have been for some years.

If This Is Your Birthday

You Are LUCKY

It should be your birthday you should be affectionate, generous, observing and unusually versatile. In fact, your ability to be interested in a great many different occupations and your lesser ability to do any one of them surprisingly well, may be more of a hindrance than a help to you.

At 4 p. m. today you may push your business, travel and change with security of outcome. After that hour it would be well to avoid all actions.

You will be active and meet many changes during the next year of your life and should therefore enter no permanent associations.

A child born today will be generous, thoughtful, but subject to moods and very impressionable.

SEEN AND HEARD

Value of manufactured products in Boston (1918), $522,646,032, being 42.13 per cent. of total in metropolitan district.

A. E. RYAN of Bowdoin street, Dorchester, has a lending library. A sign reading "The books therein attract much attention, with its offer of 7 cents a day, or 10 cents a week."

Do many of those who park classy autos outside the church doors of St. Bernard's parish in Dorchester, not at each other day in pleading for the offering of copper coins as church offerings?

It happened at a North End school. The pledge to the flag was being recited. One of the pupils roused laughter by saying: "I pledge allegiance to the American flag and to the REPUBLICANS for which it stands."

After all, the difference between republic and Republican is a bit deep for the juvenile mind.

CITY COUNCILOR GEORGE P. GILBOY, who recently offered a motion in the council asking the City Hospital trustees the advisability of erecting a new hospital in Dorchester, claims that particular section is as large as the city of Lawrence and should be provided with the same kind of an institution as the one now in operation in East Boston and Haymarket square.

The busy Republican propagandists are again circulating the old book story that only an Irish-American can expect to be nominated in the Democratic primaries. The last time that theory was tested out was when RICHARD LONO, COLONEL GASTON and EDWARD P. BARRY were candidates for Governor. They finished in that order.

JOHN F. DOWD, chairman of the Americanization Committee, told Pittsburgh, Chicago and Philly the other evening just what Boston thinks of aliens who shirked service during the war and who now seek citizenship. Speaking at Medford Hillside radio station, he flayed them as "the great traitor" and asked FEDERAL JUDGE WATSON for banning them.

Every candidate for public office is allowed to use a slogan of not more than eight words on the ballot except his name. GOVERNOR COX has chosen this: "Present Governor. Candidate for second term."

"They can't scare me," declares CITY COUNCILOR JAMES A. (JERRY) WATSON. "Jerry" apparently has gotten into a certain corporation that he is not speaking terms with would be out after him at the next city election.

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON ABERRATION OF LIGHT

By Garrett P. Serviss.

ABERRATION asks me to explain as simply as possible the aberration of light. I will try to do this in the simplest way possible. It will also try to give a bit of its great importance to the astronomer, observing and usually as an object of intellectual curiosity.

It is a question of the aberration of light that the real surprise of most men is that it is upon the invention of things that increase the physical pleasures and enjoyments. These are secondary; the others are fundamental.

Now, aberration may be defined as the angular displacement of a star caused by the motion of the earth toward the star with which we are observing. To illustrate the displacement, suppose you were shooting at a deer 3,000 feet away, running directly across with a velocity of eight miles per second.

A child born today will be generous, thoughtful, but subject to moods and very impressionable.

WHICH WAY ARE YOU GOING?

Have you ceased to make any effort to lift yourself out of the rut in which you have been for some years?

All men should take a personal inventory frequently. Figure out which way you are going and put on more steam to the right direction while there is time.

Do not slide backward negligently.

Which way are you going?

Figure out which way you are going and put on more steam to the right direction while there is time.

Do not slide backward negligently.
